

I was appaled this morning when listening to KTVL radio station out of Tyler, Texas. When talking about titles for country albums, the on air talent referred to a neat title for a country album as "Shoot that Black." This is the senseless kind of racism that has brought America to her knees and does not belong on the airways or in the homes of our children and families. Please let me know how I can protest the airing of this kind of racist trash.